Copix re-digitalization extension for descreening or for CopyDot until raster 80

Cleaned and tested

If your scanner is part of your digital workflow, it needs to go beyond professional color scanning. The move to computer-to plate technology calls for high quality scanners capable of digitizing of film separations. That's why the Nexscan F4200 was developed.

It combines professional color scanning with CopyDot and line art scanning. Dual CCD technology from Heidelberg makes the Nexscan F4200 the most powerful Copix scanner in its class. Plus, its additional black/white CCD array with 12,000 pixels enables the Nexscan F4200 to redigitize formats of up to 12.4 318 inch (3153457mm) in a single scanning pass. It is called the ›Real-One-Pass Scanning‹, which means maximum productivity.

What's more, the Nexscan F4200 automates the most time-consuming aspects of the digitalization process. CopixAssistant in Nexscan's LinoColor software automatically identifies the screen ruling, screen angle and basic film density. Meanwhile, RegisterAssistant performs semi-automatic registration of film separations. Both assistants enhance quality and simplify operation. Nexscan F4200 gives you more quality, flexibility and speed, while widening your profit.
