The top performers among the A4 scanners

The Linoscan 1450 sets the benchmark in its class for desktop publishing. Its high-quality color CCD with 10,600 pixels provides a tremendous performance and excellent optical resolution. Therefore it is recommended, especially for use in media and advertising agencies. Both under the PC operating systems Windows 95, Windows 98 and Windows NT, and Apple Macintosh operating systems, it guarantees fast and safe to scan from the beginning. This diversity in the choice of operating systems enables professional working results in any workflow.
