Spectrolino 8mm is a special version of the Spectrolino 4mm, which is not convertible on the 4mm version. It comes with NO filter. Other filters are not available for the device.

Spectrolino 8mm found everywhere in applications where unstructured surfaces, rough surfaces, textiles, rough Substratsrukturen must be measured spectrally and exactly as possible.

It can also be used even when no grid points, but rather "Rasterklekse" there are as in screen printing. The unit is out of production since 31.12.2006. X-Rite is known to have bought Gretag and recommends to replace the X-Rite 530 instrument with 6 mm aperture, which is known to costs 7500 EUR and then only a 6mm aperture instead has an 8mm aperture.

This device can indeed be the Spectroscan inserting table, only one would have on the one hand a visor for the Spectrolino have 8mm and the other scaled charts.

The device can not be used with the normal Charts Spectrolino 4mm. The Spectroscan table is not included!
